PROJECT
New head offices

DESIGN SUMMARY

The clients brief wanted a new headquarters building to reflect their companies product and aspirations.

Built on a prominent site the development maximised the site so that two other units could be let / sold by the client to fund their building.

The contemporary design and simple palette of materials including render, aluminium and single ply roofing results in a building that the owner is proud of and serves as an exemplar to their clients.

Built over a former mining area, underground stream and main gas supply pipeline, the construction proved challenging but came in on budget, providing the client with enlarged facilities and a much enhanced site value.
